

Engine Jumps Track

During the warehouse fire Wednesday afternoon, the A.C.L. locomotive entered into the spirit of the occasion and jumped the track while switching in the railroad yards. The train had to wait here until a wrecker could be brought from Dothan. It was late Wednesday night before the train was able to pull out for Dothan.

Street Car Cottage

J. V. Wright recently purchased an old street car in Birmingham and transported it to the Dorsey Trailer Plant, where it was thoroughly remodeled and transformed into a modern cottage. It has all the modern conveniences including two bedrooms, electrified kitchen, living room, bath room, etc. It will be moved to Sunnyside, Fla. this week, according to plans, and will help swell the number of new cottages in that popular resort town.

Play-Offs Lag

The play-off series between Shelhorn and New Brockton is lagging so far behind schedule that it threatens to interfere with the final series and the championship. New Brockton won the first game of the best two out of three series. The next game was rained out, and the two teams played to a 1-1 tie in the final game Sunday afternoon. Should Shelhorn win today's game a third game will have to be played Sunday throwing the final series to start next week. This week marks the end of participation for three of Elba's players, pitchers Farris, Davis and Gilson, all three of whom will be in school next week. The play-offs as planned should have been nearing completion now, but circumstances have made it impossible to finish on schedule.

J. Doug Kendrick Returns From Central American Plantation

J. Doug Kendrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Kendrick, returned last week from Costa Rica where he spent the summer on a banana plantation. He was one of six students in agriculture at A.P.I. Auburn, who were sent to Central America by the United Fruit Company for three months with all expenses paid. J. Doug and a classmate were sent to a plantation in Central America. He said they were treated handsomely, but that the native workers were little more than slaves. They were forced to toil laboriously for a pittance of wages and a diet of red beans and rice. He said morality is at a low ebb, the marriage vows being ignored or little observed. Swapping wives is a common practice. He said his trip to Panama, just across the line from Costa Rica had a much better government and a higher class of people. J. Doug said the banana business is very profitable and is carried on on a big scale. He saw many things and learned a lot during his vacation, about the most important of which was to be able to more fully appreciate the advantages and blessings to be enjoyed here in Elba and in Alabama.

From Storm Area

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Winston are visiting relatives in Elba. They came here from their home in Stuart, Fla., which was heavily hit by the hurricane which roared over a wide area on the East coast last week. Mr. Winston said many houses were completely demolished by the winds which reached a velocity of 160 miles per hour. Large coconut palms were uprooted and thrown on buildings, other trees and shrubbery were uprooted and scattered.

Mr. Winston is planning to go to Washington, D. C., in response to a request that he take a government position. He says he may accept the position if it is in a satisfactory location. He has more than 20 years service in the Navy to his credit and has had wide experience in the radio field.

Sessions Co. Buys First Peanuts Here

The first peanuts of 1949 were purchased by the Sessions Company from Cary Knight of Elba. The peanuts were bought Saturday morning. Sessions will buy peanuts in Elba throughout the season.

The recent fire that destroyed the warehouse leased from the Morrow Gin Company will not affect the plans for the company to maintain a warehouse and sheller in Elba.

Mr. J. D. Wilks Jr. will manage the buying and grading and assures farmers of top market prices. In pointing out the good prices Mr. Wilks stated that peanuts 75 per cent sound, 4 per cent shrivel, 1 per cent damage, 2 per cent foreign matter and 8 per cent moisture are bringing $212.55 per ton. Lower grade peanuts are considerably less and peanuts containing more than nine and one-half per cent moisture cannot be bought under support prices.

Regarding the fire last Wednesday, Mr. Wilks says the Sessions Company intends to remain the best peanut market in the Wiregrass.

Fish Pond Dam Contract Is Let For $21,033

Construction To Be Completed In 140 Working Days

The contract was let for the construction of the Coffee County fish pond Saturday, August 27. Nine bids were received ranging from $21,033.81 to $35,000. G. W. Norrell, of Georgiana, was the low bidder and was awarded the contract at $21,033.81. The work is to be completed within 140 working days. Bids were also received on a 40 day basis, but the additional cost was too great and the longer period was permitted.

Some fifteen convicts have done most of the clearing on the 100 acre site and the lower end of the pond is ready for the dam. Only a small portion remains to be cleared.

The pond is located six miles northeast of Elba between the Elba-Brantley and the Danley Cross Roads-Brantley highways. The original plans called for a 75 acre pond, but surveys showed that a 100 acre pond could be built.

The pond is being built by the State on land deeded to the Dept. of Conservation by Coffee citizens. It will be stocked by state hatcheries and fishing will be open to everybody, the fish and game laws of Alabama, are the only restrictions.

Just when the pond will be completed is not yet known.

World War II Vets Begin Filing For Insurance Refunds

World War II veterans started applying Monday for shares in the $2,800,000,000 insurance refund to be paid next year. Application blanks are available at every post office, VA office and Veterans organizations throughout the country. A total of 16 million ex-servicemen may be eligible.

All National Service Life Insurance policy-holders or co-policy holders who want to share in the fund must apply. Entitled to the payments are owners of all policies issued October 8, 1940, when the first insurance became available, and January 1, 1948—provided that the policies were kept in force for not less than three months.

Refunds are due on lapsed and active policies alike. The money piled up because the rate of deaths is not as great as provided for under standard tables used at the start.

Beneficiaries of deceased veterans will share but they do not apply. Their payments are being handled separately.

The Veterans Application asked that the applicants be especially careful to give their correct serial number designation, a VA announcement said.

Grand Jury Commends Officials On Court House Improvement

Returns Indictments For 13 Felonies; 5 Misdemeanors

The Grand Jury met in Elba on Monday, August 29. Thirteen indictments were returned and 18 indictments reported, 13 of these being felonies and 5 misdemeanors.

Other business conducted by the Grand Jury is included in a part of their report as follows:

"We have examined the books of the Superintendent of Education, in the Probate Office, in the office of the Circuit Clerk, and the Sheriff and we find them all to be orderly and neatly kept."

We have inspected the County jail and find it to be in excellent condition except for one cell door which is hard to open and close. It is recommended that this door be repaired immediately. We wish to commend D. B. Addison, Deputy Sheriff and Jailor, for the neat and orderly condition that we find the jail being kept.

We find the court house to be in good condition and showing much improvement recently. We were very impressed by the fine job repairs and painting done in the offices of the Circuit Clerk, Tax Collector and Sheriff. We commend the Commissioners Court in their activities in having this work.

We wish to thank H. D. Tillman, Sheriff, and his deputies for their assistance to the Grand Jury and their efforts toward enforcement of the law. It is believed that if the automobiles of the sheriff's forces were equipped with modern radios, as has been done in most counties, it would lend considerable assistance in apprehending law violators. We call this fact to the attention of the Commissioners' Court that they may consider purchasing such equipment.

We have investigated numerous complaints of larceny of property in the county. Every person who has had property stolen from him is encouraged to report the facts to the Sheriff's office as soon as he learns of the loss. This will enable a better investigation and give a better chance of apprehending the guilty person."

$20,000 Fire Destroys Big Warehouse Here Wed.

Damage Estimated At $20,000; Peanut Sheller Damaged

The large peanut warehouse belonging to Morrow Gin Company and recently leased by the Sessions Peanut Company, was destroyed by fire which was discovered about three o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Baxter Bryan, manager of the Standard Oil Company distributing station, stated that he and James Hawkins were at work in the office just across from the warehouse and he received a shock when he touched a piece of metal furniture and noticed the electric wires were getting hot. Power linemen, who were working just outside the Oil Company Office also noticed the wires getting hot and, looking across the street, saw flame bursting from the top of the warehouse. James Hawkins immediately turned in the alarm.

The Elba Fire Department responded promptly, and realizing they had a major conflagration to contend with, they called on the Enterprise and Opp Fire Departments for help. Both cities sent trucks in record time and gave valuable assistance.

The unusual height of the building and its metal construction made fire fighting extremely difficult, but by herculean effort by the combined forces the flames were brought under control after more than an hour of some of the most strenuous fire fighting imaginable. Quick work on the part of firemen kept the fire from spreading to other buildings and kept most of the heat away from the gas storage tanks on the Standard Oil Property across the road from the fire.

The peanut shelling plant, another exceedingly tall building adjoining the warehouse was seriously threatened and caught fire, but the firemen succeeded in getting a stream of water on the building in spite of tremendous heat. Fire extinguishers inside the building, manned by John D. Smith, aided in holding back the fire until a hose could be brought inside and quenched the fire.

D. B. Nelson, owner, stated loss of the warehouse and damage to the shelling plant would probably amount to twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars. It was partially covered by insurance.

The wind was a great aid in that it was blowing the heat away from the Standard Oil Storage tanks. If the wind had been blowing the other way it would have been extremely difficult for firemen to have gotten water to the tanks to keep them cool. Had the gasoline and oil become ignited the results would have been disastrous.

Firemen Doctor Roberts and Sonny Luman were overcome by the heat, but suffered no serious effects.

Priest Witnesses 'Unusual' Deeds Of Busy 'Spirit'

LIVELY GROVE, ILL.—A

Roman Catholic priest has expressed belief that mysterious happenings at a farm near here centering on 11-year-old Jerome Gretson might have been the work of his guardian angel.

The Rev. Edward Dahmus, parish priest at nearby St. Libory, said in reply to a question, "I couldn't say that it was a miracle, only that it was very unusual."

Father Dahmus described Jerome as "a normal boy, who would not be considered especially religious."

The priest made an investigation at the home and reported a spirit wrote brief answers to questions he asked in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gretson and several neighbors. This happened on several occasions, Father Dahmus said.

On a per capita basis, the average inhabitant of this country last year consumed some 100 quarts of milk, 7 1/2 quarts of beer, 48 quarts of soft and carbonated drinks, 36 7/8 quarts of coffee and 8.3 quarts of canned fruit and vegetable juices, as compared with 47 quarts of hard liquors. Cans are used in some form in the packing and distribution of all five of the favorites, the study showed.

An almost five-fold increase in per capita consumption of canned fruit and vegetable juices during the past 10 years was noted in the analysis. New methods and processes for canning fresh-flavored orange, tomato and grapefruit juices were given credit for a major part of the increase.

No figures were available on consumption of the world's number one drink—plain water.

Big Gorilla Beaten By Panther Ruled Badly Outclassed

SPokane, Wash.—It was generally agreed that Barangula, a 312-pound gorilla, never had a chance in his two-hour death struggle with a marling 185-pound panther.

Zoo authorities and the owner of the two animals expressed the opinion that despite the weight advantage, Barangula was fighting far out of his class.

In fact, according to witnesses, the gorilla passed the entire two hours seeking to ward off the savage onslaughts of the enraged panther.

More than 400 persons were virtually hypnotized by the death struggle in a cage at a Liberty Lake animal show. When the battle was ended, the gorilla lay dead, mercifully murdered by two attendants. Before the attendants shot Barangula, the panther had torn his arm off and inflicted numerous painful wounds.

It was probably the first time in history a gorilla had ever met a panther in mortal combat, according to Edward Johnson, Superintendent of the Woodland Park Zoo in Seattle.

The native habitat of the gorilla is Africa and the panther comes from Asia, he said.

Mrs. Ruby Smith, San Diego, one of the owners of the show, said that "Barangula was the loser from the beginning." The panther slashed at him with his claws and teeth while about all the gorilla could do was try to avoid being hit.

In Seattle, Johnson said gorillas are peace-loving animals who do not attack others unless attacked first. They are mainly vegetarians, he said.

Color Is Vital Point In Salesman Technique

NEW YORK—Here's a tip for those who would be successful salesmen or cooks. How your prospects with color.

So proclaims Howard Ketchum, an industrial design and color consultant, and he is talking to ladies who want to produce enjoyable meals as well as to businessmen who want to strike it rich.

"Color," says Ketchum, "has a powerful influence on the subconscious. We know that people everywhere like an atmosphere of mental ease and a sense of well-being. And color, when it is considered a part of and as an important design can achieve just this."

All sorts of experiments and surveys have proved Ketchum's claim. For instance, there was the cafeteria chain which wanted to improve its salad sales. Ketchum suggested replacing the usual white crockery with pale blue plates. Sales went up over 100 per cent within a few days.

Get-Rich-Quick Plans Flooding Texas Areas

HOUSTON, TEX.—Canadian oil boom get-rich-quick schemes are moving across the international border by mail, telephone and phone.

Better business bureaus report receiving numerous complaints and inquiries on Canadian oil stock so-called "get-rich-quick" plans.

Few hold sound claims to oil leases, say nothing of oil itself.

Predicted immediate investment returns range as high as $40 for each $1 sent across the border.

Mail order promotion of Canadian oil stocks flooded two Texas cities—Houston and Dallas—whose residents had their fill of bogus stocks in the old Texas boom days.

A Toronto, Canada, company mailed promotion literature and application blanks in wholesale fashion.

Commented C. Edward Buchner, manager of the Houston better business bureau:

"They seemed to be mailed to everyone in the city directory. Practically everyone in our office received the letters."

Mr. Buchner has accumulated a bulky file on fake Canadian stock promotions dating back to days when there was wild speculation on Canada's gold mines. The recent oil strike in Alberta province apparently has caused many of the mail order speculators to switch to oil.

Teacher Warns Against Educating Siffish Ones

RICHMOND, KY.—The president of the College of the Bible said here to increase the intellectual powers of a selfish person is to endanger freedom and meretricious peace.

Delivering the baccalaureate address at Eastern State College, Dr. Riley B. Montgomery said:

"An education that increases knowledge and develops the intellect but fails to strengthen the character may . . . lead to disappointment and ultimate failure."

"One can be continuously thrilling when we constantly search for knowledge and truth, but when we make it a continuous experiment in social responsibility and a continuous adventure in religious living."

Faulty Memories Catch Two Million Americans

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Faulty memories caught up with almost two million Americans last year, said the Hallmark greeting card company here has proof. It rescued them with that many "belated birthday" greeting cards.

The firm published belated greetings for forgetful wives, husbands, sons, daughters, and friends—for a total of 20 different such occasions. And if sales continue to mount the number of cards devised for overlooked occasions may be increased.

Are there cards for husbands who let their wedding anniversary slip by unnoticed? But why

What Is Justice?

Lesson for September 4, 1949

EVERYBODY is in favor of justice but not everybody knows what justice is. Justice is more fundamental than democracy. If we believe that democracy is the best form of government, it is only because we believe that justice can be better secured in this way than in any other.

Justice is as old as God. Since for at least 3,000 years his law has been the basis of all philosophy and theology, it is not surprising that it has been the subject of much of the best writing in history.

Justice is the basis of all law. It is the basis of all morality. It is the basis of all religion. It is the basis of all civilization.

Justice is the basis of all life. It is the basis of all love. It is the basis of all peace. It is the basis of all happiness.

Justice is the basis of all truth. It is the basis of all beauty. It is the basis of all goodness. It is the basis of all perfection.

Justice is the basis of all life. It is the basis of all love. It is the basis of all peace. It is the basis of all happiness.

Justice is the basis of all truth. It is the basis of all beauty. It is the basis of all goodness. It is the basis of all perfection.

Justice is the basis of all life. It is the basis of all love. It is the basis of all peace. It is the basis of all happiness.

Justice is the basis of all truth. It is the basis of all beauty. It is the basis of all goodness. It is the basis of all perfection.

Justice is the basis of all life. It is the basis of all love. It is the basis of all peace. It is the basis of all happiness.

ATTEND HURRICANE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Flournoy Whitman, son Travis, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Whitman and Mrs. H. Whitman left early last Friday morning to attend a birthday celebration honoring Mrs. Julia Sellers at Winter Haven, Fla. They picked up Mrs. Duke Taylor at Cross City.

About four o'clock Friday afternoon they began to hear radio storm warnings but they continued on their journey, arriving in Winter Haven about an hour before the storm struck. When they arrived Mrs. Sellers informed the visitors that they were holding a hurricane party. Mrs. Flournoy Whitman replied that she had always wanted to attend a hurricane party.

Mrs. Whitman gave a thrilling account of the storm which struck with great intensity. The electric current was cut off, the telephone connections were severed, radio communications discontinued and the city was isolated for the rest of the night. Great damage was done in Winter Haven and surrounding territory.

However the storm passed the following morning and by Sunday Mrs. Sellers' birthday was celebrated very enjoyably according to schedule. The Elba party returned home Tuesday night with plenty to talk about but none the worse for their experience.

Flash Of Brilliance

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

CONSIDERING the fact that the necklace was valued at $50,000 and it was not insured, Mrs. Holbrook should have been upset. The fact that she wasn't astonished even her husband, for her husband knew he was in for it.

Recreation for the day was swimming, boating, bicycle riding and the opportunity of jolly conversation. At noon a delicious picnic lunch was arranged on the table and none went hungry.

"I mean," said Mrs. Holbrook, "I'm not the only one who thinks the diamond necklace was stolen. I left it back in New York—in a safety deposit box."

"You what?"

"The jewels that were stolen were imitations. I wouldn't dream of wearing the originals without having them insured."

Mr. Holbrook's mouth fell open. "So you see," said Mrs. Holbrook, "I'm not the only one who thinks the necklace was stolen. I left it back in New York—in a safety deposit box."

"Of course," Mrs. Holbrook said. "And nothing could be more satisfactory. My dear, consider that we are to be on the high seas for a week. The criminal, whoever he is, will have to remain with us during that length of time. A week, my dear, will give our clever and efficient captain ample opportunity to apprehend the thief."

An hour after Mrs. Holbrook had demonstrated her hidden genius she excused herself from the group in the main lounge and, obviously depressed by the cabin. After a moment she rang for the captain.

"Captain Talbert, my husband has undoubtedly told you about the theft and instructed you to apprehend the thief."

"Yes, ma'am. I have two of the crew making a search now."

"Instruct them to desist. It will not be necessary."

"But, Mrs. Holbrook, your husband said—"

German Electric Seine May Aid Whale Hunters

FRANKFURT, GERMANY.—Two Germans have developed an electric seine which, they say, attracts fish of a predetermined size, stuns them with a slight electric shock and causes them to fall into the net.

Physicist Konrad Kretzner and Hamburg engineer Herbert Peglow designed the apparatus for fishing sparse deep sea banks, but it has been tried out successfully in fresh water.

In Hamburg they are fitting out a former German mine sweeper, with which they hope to revolutionize the fishing industry.

In front of a normal trawl net they trail a metal plate attached to a generator. By varying the type and the strength of the current fishermen could lure big or small fish, which develop symptoms of anesthesia. They are also scooped up in the trawl.

The invention can be used along the whaling industry, it is said. "Shocks" whales could be brought alongside for inspection, then killed or rejected.

Electric Shocks to Test Elephant Force Strength

PORT ELIZABETH.—Giving a herd of wild elephants electric shocks to save them from extinction has posed the problem of how to shock them without hurting them.

In erecting an electrified fence to discourage the wandering herd of elephants of the Addo bush near here from straying over farm lands where the farmers will wage war on them, the keepers mapped a plan to test the shock.

The elephants will be led to the fence by a trail of oranges—about 1,000 oranges being used—with the idea that the beasts will follow the juicy trail and lean against the fragile-looking fence to knock it down. Then they'll get a surprise.

When experts find how much electricity is needed, they will fence the whole area where the elephants roam.

Man Obtains Court Order To Get Bed From Stepson

BOSTON.—It took a court order, but George MacMasters may sleep now in the master bedroom of his Holbrook home.

His 14-year-old stepson, John Rook, must stop "usurping" the big bedroom and from now on must sleep in a smaller room in the attic.

John Rook, who fixed the sleeping arrangements in Suffolk county superior court. At MacMasters' request he issued a temporary injunction restraining the boy.

The 40-year-old linoleum-factory pressman had charged that he was "prevented from enjoying the ease and comfort of my own home."

MacMasters told Judge Swift his stepson's "misbehavior is inspired by his mother," Mrs. Ann Rook MacMasters, from whom MacMasters is seeking a divorce.

During the circus, Dr. Nardello averages about 10 lifts a day and is brought to his office with complaints of headaches, dizziness or stomach pains all brought on by overeating.

But generally the short, chunky house doctor is kept busy by the assorted athletes and performers most of whom are in top shape when they enter the Garden.

His most frequent customers are the rodeo cowboys. During their stint at the Garden, he averages 15 to 20 cases of dislocated shoulders, fractures, bruises and rope burns every night. In recent years there were two cowboys who died within four minutes after being kicked by horses.

The most durable athletes Dr. Nardello knows are hockey players.

"I'll never forget Johnny Morrow, the Detroit goalie," the doctor says. "One night about five years ago he was smashed squarely in the teeth by a flying puck. He took 20 stitches and was back on the ice in 15 minutes."

He Needed 1,500 The biggest single job the doctor ever had at the Garden occurred in 1947, when he inoculated some 1,500 circus employees, including circus lions, for smallpox.

One of the most tragic incidents treating a trapeze flyer for shock and hysteria a few years ago. The man had jumped to jump from an aerial platform after seeing his wife and partner miss her grip and fall to her death.

The performers closest to the doctor's heart are the fighters. He used to be one himself, fighting for a time as a lightweight to work his way through medical school.

Dr. Nardello is 60 and still very busy. He generally doesn't leave the Garden until after midnight, and the Garden is dark only one or two nights between Labor day and late spring, when the circus ends.

Alabama Artist Stirs Southland With Race Relations Program

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

Birmingham, Ala.—The race relations program of a local artist is gradually gaining momentum since civic, church and school leaders throughout the South have begun to endorse it.

Felix Grimes, originator of a new art medium overhauled a program with the placing of George Washington Carver's picture in every colored school in the South. The aim of Grimes' program is to impress colored youth with the achievements and character of Dr. Carver.

According to Grimes, "Only through education can the races be improved and a better understanding be fostered between the white and colored races."

The new art medium, which he calls "psych-beautigraph," produces a picture, the texture of which resembles a peanut shell. His portrait of Carver is of the same material.

Experts Pick Best Farmer in Alabama

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

Grove Hill, Ala.—Elijah Lyndon of Macon, Clarke County was selected last week as Alabama's outstanding Negro soil conservation farmer.

Lynum competed with winners from the states 11 other soil conservation districts.

Following the introduction of a soil conservation plan for his farm in 1942, Lynum consistently improved badly run down lands into productive acreage.

Corn yield was increased from 10 to 40 bushels per acre and he grows three-fourths of a bale of cotton to the acre. His cattle and hogs thrive on legumes and peanuts.

Twist Klan Law To Jail Negroes

Osark, Ala.—Six Negro youths, three of them teenagers, who set out in a misguided effort to protect Negro "womanhood" were ironically the first persons to be arrested and jailed under Alabama's new anti-mask law.

The law enacted eight weeks ago by the state legislature, which was intended to suppress the program coming from within the race to stronger bonds between the races because the new statute is aimed at the Ku Klux Klan and agitators can ever do. He further believes it will discourage the reception of communistic doctrines.

Many Fall Prey To Gold Lure Found in Maps

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—Those "authentic maps" of the legendary Lost Dutchman gold mine are in season again.

The way the story goes, millions of dollars in gold await the fortunate person solving the mystery of the location of the long lost mine in the rugged Superstition mountains.

The range is located in Maricopa and Pinal counties of Arizona. Legend says the Lost Dutchman produced untold wealth for a Spanish family named Peralta and later for Jacob Waltz, popularly known as "Snowbird," the Dutchman.

The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, backed by the sheriffs of the two counties, believes the prospect and sale of these "authentic maps" is a big business for some.

It happens Every Summer During recent decades the sale of maps has brought a far greater return than has the mine. Every summer, chamber officials report, they receive letters from prospectors.

"I have come into possession of an old map showing the location of the Lost Dutchman mine. Can you please send me information on how to outfit an expedition?"

Farmer's Life
Mr. Leamon LeCompte, who sides in the Whitewater community says it is no fun to raise a crop in the rain and then gather it in the rain, besides not having more than half as much to gather. Mr. LeCompte had 10 bales of cotton last year and will have a little less than half as much this year.
Mr. LeCompte has ten acres, however, which have worked out nicely. Last year he planted the 10 acres to peanuts and hogged them off. This year he planted corn on the same plot. He said he has a good stand of corn and also a good stand of volunteer peanuts which show promise of a good crop. He explained that it is the easiest and cheapest crop he ever raised—no seed, and comparatively little work.
